Observed SGP Doppler ice cloud spectra, above, are compared with simulations at right. The power difference in the W-band is probably due to water vapor attenuation of the WACR beam, not accounted for in the simulator. Overall, agreement is good at both frequencies.